

Quality and environmental policy

We take quality and environmental aspects into account in all our activities

This means:

- that the statutory stipulations represent minimum requirements
- that Ahlsell's business concept, vision, objectives and strategy are the basis of our quality objectives
- that environmental aspects such as transportation, energy use, chemical products and waste are the basis of our environmental objectives
- that our quality and environmental management system is based on ISO standards 14001 and 9001 in addition to the requirements of systematic fire protection and the work environment

We consider the expectations of all interested parties in questions of quality and the environment

This means:

- that the requirements and wishes of customers, owners, the relevant authorities, employees and suppliers are considered and are a source of renewal and improvements
- that our employees shall understand the effects of our quality and environmental measures

We aim to continuously improve our quality and environmental performance

This means:

- that our employees have an optimal work environment
- that we regularly assess our activities to identify any defects and ensure continuous improvements
- that we take due precautions to minimise pollution in all our activities
- that we actively communicate questions of quality and the environment both externally and internally
